Gabriela Ochoa Brenneman, South Bend, Indiana, is the community outreach coordinator at Ten Thousand Villages, Mishawaka. She is married and enjoys raising her two boys and making jewelry after they go to bed. She attends Kern Road Mennonite Church.

Christina Duhoux-Rueb, Wassenaar, the Netherlands, is married and is a semi-retired Dutch Mennonite pastor.

Kate Good, Lancaster City, Pennsylvania, says that writing about culture for timbrel is enjoyable. "Reading, discovering new music, watching movies, going to art shows and plays are some of my favorite things to do," she says. Good also loves to travel, cook and write. She is employed by Good Books and lives with her dog, Sam.

Kirsten L. Klassen, Elkhart, Indiana, doesn't believe all bad things happen for a reason, but she does believe that God's promise is to be with us during those times, as well as in times of celebration. And that with God's help, we can transform the causes of our suffering into meaningful experiences for ourselves and others.

Linda Gehman Peachey, Lancaster, Pennsylvania, is the director of Women's Advocacy for Mennonite Central Committee US. She is married to Titus Peachey, has two adult daughters and attends East Chestnut Street Mennonite Church. She enjoys reading, writing, long walks in a nearby park, and conversations with friends and family members. She has authored several books.

Vickie Shurelds, Lima, Ohio, holds a Master of Education degree from Bluffton University. She is a news reporter, broadcaster, and anchor, as well as host of "Soul of the City," a radio talk show. She has two adult children.
